Information for parents and students

What is an exemption and why do I need it?

Every parent of a child of compulsory school age or young person in the compulsory participation phase has a legal obligation to ensure their child is enrolled at and attending school or participating in an eligible option.

Parents can apply for an exemption from this obligation when their child cannot (or it would be unreasonable in all the circumstances) attend school or participate in an eligible option for a period of more than 10 consecutive school days.

For information on situations where an exemption may be granted, please refer to Circumstances where an exemption is not required, and where an exemption may or may not be granted information sheet.

If your child is exempted from compulsory schooling, or the young person is exempted from compulsory participation, you are excused from your obligation in relation to compulsory schooling or compulsory participation for the period of the exemption.

The school principal is not responsible for providing an educational program to your child during the approved exemption period; however they may provide advice on other educational options available.

Who decides to grant or not grant an exemption?

- For state school students:

Decisions about exemptions are made by the principal of the school the student attends.

- For non-state school students:

Non-state school principals have the authority to approve exemptions of up to and including 110 school days in a calendar year that do not cause the total period of exemptions granted in the year to exceed 110 school days.

Any exemption application for a period of more than 110 school days or that would cause the total period of exemptions granted in a year to exceed 110 school days is decided by the Manager, Office of Non-state Education.

If the student is not continuing enrolment at the non-state school for the whole exemption period, the process for students not enrolled at any state or non-state school should be followed.

- For children who are not enrolled in any state or non-state Queensland school:

Decisions about exemptions for children who are not enrolled in any state or non-state school are made by either the Regional Director, Principal Advisor Education Services, Principal Advisor Regional Services, Director Regional Services, of the Department of Education region in which the child resides.

Applying for an exemption

You are encouraged to discuss with the school or region whether an application for exemption is a suitable option. The school or region can provide you with an application form for an exemption. It is important that supporting documentation and evidence are attached to the application.

When a decision about the exemption has been made, you will be informed in writing whether or not the exemption has been granted and if any conditions have been imposed. If you are not satisfied with the decision made, you can make a submission for the decision to be reviewed.

Circumstances where an exemption may be granted

An exemption may be appropriate in the following circumstances:

- diagnosis of terminal medical condition
- illness or hospitalisation (including recovery period at home) for a period greater than 10 consecutive school days
- 'carer' responsibilities
- diagnosed mental health condition
- temporary interstate or overseas relocation where the family intends to return to Queensland.

Circumstances where an exemption may not be granted

Exemptions may not be granted where the absence is recognised as a reasonable excuse in accordance with the Roll marking in state schools procedure. For example:

- illness or hospitalisation for a period of less than 10 consecutive school days
- cultural or religious reasons including Sorry Business, or participation in religious observance events
- attendance at funerals.

In such circumstances, the student is to be marked as absent from school using the appropriate absence reason code.

An exemption may also not be appropriate, and should not be granted, for the following circumstances:

- difficulty with school curriculum
- reluctance to attend school
- response to incidents at school such as bullying
- employment (for compulsory school-aged child) or desire to seek employment
- desire to become an apprentice or trainee but without an established training contract with an employer or Registered Training Organisation.

Circumstances where an exemption is not required

An exemption is not required where the child or young person is:

- undertaking activities under Commonwealth law
- provisionally registered, or registered, for home education
- suspended from school
- excluded from all state schools
- excluded from a state school or certain state schools, during the time reasonably required to enrol the student in another state school (which is not affected by the exclusion) or non-state school, or to provisionally register or register for home education
- prevented from attending because they are subject to a direction given, or declaration, order or requirement made, under an Act or other law about an infectious or contagious disease or condition
- waiting for a decision on an enrolment application that is pending at a school
- an apprentice or trainee under the Further Education and Training Act 2014 \(Qld\)
- engaged in paid employment (25 hours per week or more) (for young people in the compulsory participation phase only)
- enrolled in and attending a non-departmental employment skills program (for young people in the compulsory participation phase only)
- in a youth detention centre or attending a hospital school.
